PROVISIONAL DELAY TO GERMANY GRANTED

CANNES, FRANCE, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The allied reparations commission at a conference here today, decided to grant a provisional delay to Germany on her reparations account.

The conditions are:

First—During the period of provisional delay, Germany must pay to approved foreign securities 37,000,000 gold marks every ten days, the first payment to be January 16.

Second—Germany within a fortnight must submit to the commission a plan for reforms or appropriate guarantees for its budget and paper currency and also a program for a reparations payments in cash and in-kind for 1922.

Third—The period of provisional delay shall end when the commission or the allied governments have reached a decision in regard to the plan and program mentioned in the second condition, the balance due becoming payable a fortnight after the commission or the allies have reached a decision.

Dr. Walter Rathenau, head of the German delegation, took note of the decision in the name of his government. He added that Germany had not defaulted in her payments because negotiations had been taken up regarding late payments due January 15. He also took note of the invitation to Germany to take part in the Geneva conference.

SENATE DECIDES NEWBERRY IS ENTITLED TO HIS SEAT

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The Newberry case, in the formal records of the senate, had passed into history today. The senate chamber, with that air of repose after the strain of battle, was again the scene of the senatorial choice of the United States senator in the 1918 election, when M. Newberry was entitled to his seat in the senate, was strangely silent. There were then three years of uncertainty and suspense, resulting from the contest of the seat by Henry Ford, who had defeated Newberry in the election, and the Republican leaders declaring that the Republican senator entitled to his seat were all Republicans.

Now senators of that party joined in the resolution and three senators in opposing. Three senators were paired for and three against the resolution and three did not vote.

The resolution as adopted carried an amendment by Senator Wallis, Republican, Ohio, by which the senate's vote on the Newberry case was to be a permanent and undisputed one, and the expense of the chairman of the committee and dignity of the senate.

DECISIONS TO BECOME OPERATIVE AT ONCE

CANNES, FRANCE, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The supreme council today examined the situation created by the departure of the French delegation and ruled that decisions on which a complete agreement had been reached should become operative, especially that regarding the Geneva conference, for which Premier Benoni of Italy, was charged to issue invitations.

The council met at 11 o'clock and continued in session until 1:30 p. m. At the beginning of the meeting, the Minister Lloyd George read to the members a telegram from M. Briand giving notice of his resignation from the French presidency. The council charged Mr. Lloyd George with the duty of telegraphing M. Briand, expressing regrets at his resignation and the interruption of the negotiations.

The date for the opening of the Geneva conference was fixed as March 8.

CANNES, FRANCE, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Invitations to the Geneva economic conference decided upon by the allied supreme council were forwarded today to the various nations whose participation is sought. The United States and the more important countries were asked to send a minimum of three and a maximum of five delegates, and the other nations two delegates each, the date of March 8 being provisionally fixed for the meeting.

CANNES, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Prime Minister Lloyd George will leave Cannes for London at seven o'clock this evening. He may, it is stated, stop in Paris en route to confer with President Millerand and M. Poincare, who is forming a cabinet to succeed the Briand ministry.

FORD WANTS ENTIRE FRENCH NAVY OR NONE OF WARSHIPS

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The French government has approached Henry Ford by cable asking if he would consider the purchase of battleships. In announcing the request here today, Mr. Ford said he replied that unless he could buy the entire French navy he would not be interested in job lots. No answer to his cable had been received, he said.

Receiver For Sugar Concern

NEW YORK, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—A receiver for the Sugar Products Company, a subsidiary of the United States Food Products Co., was appointed today by Federal Judge Mark. Liabilities exceeding $500,000 were alleged by the complainant, the Inter-Ocean Oil Co., of Pierre, S. D.

Price Demands More Evidence

COLUMBUS, O., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Making practically the same ready to attorneys W. S. Taylor and R. W. Watson as Governor Davis did, Attorney General Price said a letter to those men today refusing to investigate alleged unlawful practices of certain state officials unless specific evidence of guilt is furnished.

"You may be assured that neither rumor nor gossip will be accepted as sufficient grounds upon which to justify the expenditure of public money or the time of employees of this department," Attorney General Price wrote. "Hence, unless you see fit to comply with my request to submit your information in affidavit form, you may consider our correspondence on this matter at an end."

300 Indictments Returned By Grand Jury

LOGAN, W. VA., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Indictments charging treason were returned here today against C. Frank Keeney, president of District 17, United Mine Workers of America; William Blizard, secretary-treasurer; William Blizard, president of sub-district No. 4, and C. Porter, secretary of sub-district No. 2. The indictments, based on alleged activities of the union officials in the disorders last summer, referred to by the Logan authorities as "the uprising," were among about 300 returned by the grand jury in circuit court.

A number of other indictments alleging treason were returned, but the names of the defendants were not made public as they have not yet been arrested.

The indictments allege that the defendants undertook to overthrow Governor Morgan's proclamation of martial law in Mingo county, ruled an army to wage war against the state of West Virginia, and committed acts against the state, which it is alleged constituted treason.

Under the state law treason is punishable by death or by imprisonment, lawyers said.

Keeney, Blizard and Blizard are among 50 men now held in the county jail here under indictments charging conspiracy, and in aiding and abetting and counseling Frank Kitchen, held on a charge of killing John Gore, a Logan county deputy sheriff, who died of wounds received on Blair mountain last August. It was here the "armed march" against Logan and Mingo counties was stopped.

Nearly all of the indictments returned today contain charges connected with the march, many of them being charges of murder or conspiracy against men not previously indicted and not now in custody.

Keeney and his associates were not arraigned today, but officials said that probably the arraignment would take place in connection with their appearance under previous indictments set for next Monday.

HELD FOR FORCING WIFE TO TAKE POISON TABLETS

PARIS, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Mrs. Audrey Creighton Ryan, better known as Miss Audrey Creighton, California, violinist and prize winner at the American Conservatory of Music in Fontainebleau, is reported dying in the American hospital at Neuilly from the results of swallowing three poison tablets.

Her husband, Thomas Stewart Ryan, who is attached to the Paris staff of the Chicago Tribune, was arrested on a charge of administering the tablets to her, under the threat to kill her with a knife unless she swallowed them. Later he is said to have stabbed himself, but not seriously.

According to the story told to the police by the young woman's mother, Ryan returned to Paris unexpectedly on Wednesday and visited her and his wife. He told his wife that he was willing to facilitate a divorce, but wished her to go with him for a farewell dinner.

C., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The army transport "Crook" was 120 miles east of Anderson channel and making seven knots an hour at 6:10 a. m. today, according to a wireless to the war department. The message stated that the transport Mt. Milid was standing by about three miles starboard of the crippled vessel and that everything was proceeding satisfactorily. It was said that the "Crook" a short time before had encountered a small squall, but that the blow did not cause any damage and the transports expected to be out of the storm region within an hour. The "Crook" was expected to dock at New York tomorrow morning.

POLITICAL PRISONERS OF IRELAND RELEASED

LONDON, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The Irish political prisoners in the London jails were released this morning under the amnesty proclamation issued by King George yesterday. Instructions were sent to the provincial jails for similar releases.

The Ulster government, it is understood, will take no responsibility for the release of the Sinn Fein prisoners who might come under the amnesty proclamation affecting political offenders. They will, it is said, be transferred tonight to southern Ireland, leaving it to the British government to liberate them if it desires.

The strictest secrecy is being observed with regard to the prisoners for fear of rioting.

It was learned later that 140 prisoners were being transferred from Belfast today. It is understood here they are being taken to Mount Joy prison in Dublin, where they will be liberated.

LONDON, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—The Daily Mail's Dublin correspondent declares that the Sinn Fein party has sent urgent cablegrams to the United States appealing for funds to enable them to begin the election campaign in opposition to the new free state government.

May Separate "Siamese Twins" By Operation

CHICAGO, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Availability of surgically separating Josefa and Rosa Blazek, "Siamese twins" from Czechoslovakia, will be determined today by Chicago surgeons. Dr. Max Thorek, who will be in charge of the examination, explained that the sisters fear that the death of one would bring the immediate death of the other. The examination will be by the X-ray. The women are 31 years old. They recently came to Chicago to live in the foreign colony after firing of exhibition work. Rosa is the mother of an eleven-year-old boy. Josefa is unmarried.

POINCARE CHOSEN TO FORM NEW CABINET FOR FRANCE

PARIS, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Raymond Poincare, former president of France, was selected today to form a cabinet to succeed that under Aristide Briand, which resigned yesterday. The prevailing impression in political circles was that he would complete his task and would submit his list of ministers to President Millerand for approval early this afternoon.

On the other hand it was recognized that he would find many difficulties in his path, and that these might prove formidable enough to force him to abandon his assignment.

The manner of M. Briand's dramatic exit while on the apparent verge of an overwhelming vote of confidence in the chamber of deputies has caused a certain reaction in his favor, and besides M. Poincare has a strong opposition in parliament.

Music Hall To Be Razed

CHICAGO, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Bosch's music hall, one of Chicago's historic bits of reality, in which many stars in Grand Opera and the theatrical world made their first public appearances, has been sold and will soon be torn down to make room for a large apartment building, it became known today.

Mary Garden, director general of the Chicago Grand Opera Company, made her first public appearance there at the age of 14, taking the part of Angelina in "Trial by Jury," staged by her Sunday school class.

George Ade's "Peggy From Paris" was first given there as a skit entitled "Maggie From Paris." The hall was the social center for the Hyde Park district for many years.

Flee Flames In Night Clothes

TOLEDO, O., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Eleven roomers, including five women, fled barefooted and in their night clothing into the street, when fire, starting from an overloaded furnace, swept the rooming house of Mrs. M. Brown, in Twelfth street, early this morning, causing damage estimated at $2,500.

Mrs. Brown, awakened by the smell of smoke, opened the door of her room and saw flames belching from the ventilators in the hallway. She aroused the other occupants of the house, all of whom were in bed, and through smoke-filled hallways they groped their way to safety in the street.

Buildings Are Damaged And Streets Cave In

SCRANTON, PA., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—More than a dozen men are believed to be entombed in the National mine of the Glen Alden Coal Company between South Scranton and Mineoka, as the result of a severe cave-in today. The company officials believe that about sixteen men were caught behind the big squeeze. A report that four men were taken out dead was not confirmed by the company. Rescuers are within 300 feet of the trapped men.

SCRANTON, PA., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—About twenty mine workers are believed to have been caught behind a cave-in in the National mine of the Glen Alden Coal Company in South Scranton today. Two or three men are reported killed. The cave-in affected the surface area for about five city blocks.

Several hundred men left the workings without injury when the cave-in occurred.

The disturbance was 200 feet beneath the surface. Every effort is being made to reach the men believed to be behind the barrier.

When the surface in some sections of the area over the mine showed signs of subsidence, precautions were taken to protect life. Pupils in a large school were dismissed and the Simpson Silk Mill was closed for the day. There was some damage to buildings scattered throughout the affected area.

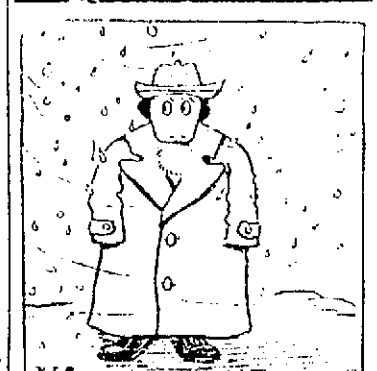

The surface subsidence in Scranton has been going on for years and repeated efforts have been made through legislation to control mining to prevent such occurrences. A state mine cave-in law, now in force, is in the state supreme court for interpretation of some of its provisions.

Chinese Warships To Collect Duties To Pay Sailors

SHANGHAI, January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Seven warships of the Peking government's navy have left here for Shihliwei, near Yangchow in the province of Kiangsu, the commanders announcing their intention of collecting the salt duties there to buy food for their sailors. The crews have not received wages for six months, and their officers claimed, before sailing, that their action was necessary to prevent starvation of their men. Shihliwei is the point at which salt is transhipped from the region north of the Yangtze river valley. Notice of their intention was served by the naval commanders upon the president and cabinet. Their statement seeks to assure foreign interests whose loans are secured by the salt revenues, that the war effort will take only enough money from the salt duties to pay the over-due wages, turning over the balance to the government.

WHO KILLED MIRIAM VANE?

She was an artist—beautiful—but mocking and mysterious. Her portraits were called caricatures because of their subtle cruelty. One night a shot was heard. A minute later the beautiful artist was found dead in her Greenwich Village studio. Before her was an unfinished portrait.

This gripping tale of mystery is by Isabel Ostrander, acknowledged to be the greatest writer of detective stories in America today.

Carefully and logically the clues are developed, the suspense grows more tense and in the last chapter Detective Barry is able to point to the murderer.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MODERN EVILS: HOW TO FIGHT THEM
BY REV. L. C. GODFREY

The unity of the kingdoms under the reign of King David was soon broken after Rehoboam, son of Solomon, ascended the throne. The autocratic administration of affairs precipitated the disunion of the kingdom. Consequently the ten tribes revolted and formed the northern kingdom, with Jeroboam at its head.

When, finally, Ahaz became king, he brought a new force for evil into the affairs of Israel by marrying "Jezebel, daughter of Ethbaal, king of the Sidonians," and introducing the worship of Baal, so that he "did yet more to provoke Jehovah, the God of Israel, than were before him." (1 Kings 16, 31, 32.) The sin of jealousy, discord and idolatry did not originate, neither were they born under the reign of these kings, although they fostered them.

But, these sins are as old as they are new. The Bible says: "The love of money is the root of all kinds of evil," but sin is the "tap root" of all evil. "The only difference between modern evils and those of other days is that the latter were more numerous."

is not a difference of nature, but of manifestation. The motive is the same, the objective is the same, but when a certain evil becomes so alarming and dangerous that society in general, suffers from its effects, and the Christian people and all good citizens join in putting it down, it is not absolutely always obliterated, but often appears in disguise or in some other phase or form. For after the good work of banishing the liquor traffic was accomplished, the "moonshiners" broke out in desperate fashion.

Some of the more conspicuous evils of our day are as follows: Graft, and a very small wage is only being paid in a number of instances where men are still compelled to pay high prices for their living.

The crime wave seems to have struck us hard in these days of depression, for which many things are attributed to be the cause. The real reason is actual ignorance on the part of those who perpetrate the crime. They simply have an inadequate, or no conception of the meaning of life's mission.

There is also a very great indifference on the part of the people to religion. People are so absorbed by the "evils of this world" that they have no time to "wait upon the Lord."

The divorce evil should not be overlooked, which causes matrimony in a great number of instances to be commercialized, and encourages clandestine marriages.

Millions of people are worshipping idols of their own making. They are worshippers of wealth and pleasure. They do not worship the true God, but are offering up their lives as sacrifices to the modern gods and idols.

It remains that the church must fight until she reigns over all the earth, "until the kingdoms of this world become the kingdom of our Lord and Christ." Christianity and the church has the wisdom, the power and the remedy for the ills of individuals, for society, for the world. "Where sin abounds, grace doth much more abound."

By the united effort of God's people, everywhere, and every devout citizen and by faith in God we shall triumph. "One shall chase a thousand and two shall put ten thousand to flight." "This is the victory that overcometh the world even our faith."

"Thanks be unto God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

Life's Darkest Moment

I came running home and told my aunt I had a date with the prettiest girl in school. She said I could not go until I wore long trousers. After supper I decided I would slip off and go. So I went to my room, dressed in the dark and beat it. Just as I stepped in the door at the home of the girl, I looked down to see what kind of a job I had done in my shoes in the dark. But no sooner had I looked than I backed out of the door. For my aunt had sewed white rubber on the bottom of my short trousers.—Chicago Journal.

Newberry Gets Seat

Senate and dangerous to the perpetuity of a free government." The amendment was accepted by the Newberry supporters as a sub for the original clause, declaring unfounded the charges involved in the Ford contest, that the Michigan senator was not entitled to a seat because of campaign expenditures.

Senator Newberry accepted the action and in a subsequent statement as a "complete vindication of myself and all concerned," definitely answering statements made during the closing hours of debate that he did not approve of the resolution in its final form.

Senator Willis In Line

Senator Willis, Republican, Ohio, voted to seat Senator Newberry, while

Mr. Pomeroy, Ohio's Democratic senator, voted to unseat him. The roll call follows:

Three senators were absent and not voting. They were Senator Newberry, Johnson of California, Republican, and Watson, Democrat, Georgia. Announcement was made originally that Senator Watson was paired with Senator Norbeck but later it was announced on the floor that Senator Watson did not wish a pair and Senator Norbeck voted.

Senator's Statement

Senator Newberry in the following statement, issued after the vote, declared his action as a vindication:

"My heart is filled with thankfulness that the three years and four months of persecution have ended in complete vindication and exoneration of myself and all concerned. His announcement definitely answered statements made during the closing hours of debate that Mr. Newberry did not approve of the resolution in its final form."

WOKE UP MORNINGS WITH THAT TIRED OUT FEELING

Digestion Poor, No Appetite—Became Weak, Nervous and Run Down

TOOK NEW TONIC AND FEELS FINE

"My husband suffered from poor digestion—things he ate would give him so much trouble with his stomach. He couldn't sleep but a few hours nightly, waking up feeling dull and tired and soon became weak, nervous and run down."

Enjoyed His Recovery

He is now feeling fine and enjoying the best of health, since following the recommendation of a prominent druggist here and taking Hypo-Cod. His appetite picked up and he got so he could enjoy a nourishing meal without being bothered with his stomach. His recovery came quickly and he can now lie down and get a good night's rest, waking up with calm nerves, plenty of energy and feeling fine. Early's Hypo-Cod built him up so he has good health and has gotten back his old strength. He says that he feels ten years younger and certainly looks fine." said Mrs. Wm. Furlan of No. 711 Temperance St., Knoxville, Tenn.

Experts Endorse It

Mr. Furlan is but one of the many thousands who have gotten such quick and pleasant relief. Early's Hypo-Cod has built up countless numbers to look and feel at their best once again, and it stands to reason that this powerful, modern and up-to-date reconstructive strengthening tonic can do the same thing for you. Men like Professor E. E. Early, Ph. D., former professor of chemistry, Tennessee Medical College, praise Early's Hypo-Cod in the highest terms. It is splendid for weakened vitality, run down nervous, poor digestion and such symptoms of declining health.

Yourself At Your Best

Build yourself up to throw off these troubles and resist them in the future. Let Early's Hypo-Cod do it quickly, pleasantly and inexpensively. Early's Hypo-Cod is pleasant to take and costs only a trifle. You can find the familiar Orange Colored Carton in any of the better drug stores on the way home tonight. Start taking it without delay and share it with the family. Feel at your very best once again and see what a big difference it makes. —Advertisement.

Goethe's Merit.

Goethe's merit lies in the perfect finish of all his creations; there are no strong scenes to counterbalance the weak, no elaboration of some parts of the picture to make up for the sketchiness of others; no botching, no padding, no dwelling on details. Each character in his romances and dramas is treated, wherever it appears, as though it were the chief character. This is Homer's manner, this is Shakespeare's. In the works of all great poets there are, properly speaking, no secondary characters; each person of the drama is in his place the leading character.—Helme.

Both Animal and Bird.

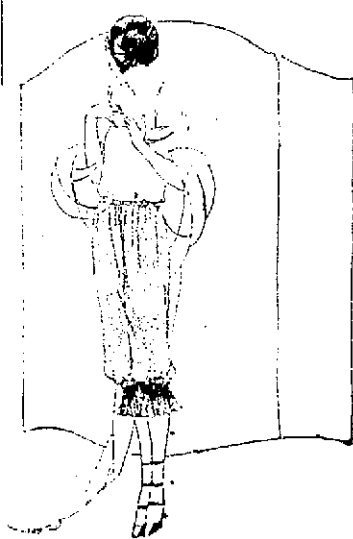

One of the strangest animals known is the platypus, a creature inhabiting the river banks of Australia and Tasmania. It resembles both an animal and a bird in that its body and tail are like those of a beaver, while its web feet and bill remind one of a duck. It has teeth for chewing its food, but it has no external ear, although its hearing is acute. It lays eggs like a turtle, but suckles its young. A specimen of the animal has been placed on exhibition in the National museum, Washington.

Method Of Scrapping Warships And Pacific Fortification Undivided

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 13. —(By the Associated Press)—Although the arms delegates had given up hope of putting the naval treaty in final shape for announcement at a plenary session this week, it appeared probable when the "big five" resumed their discussion today that a virtually completed treaty would be ready for action by the full naval committee tomorrow or Monday. Having completed their first revision of the pact yesterday and returned it to the legal experts for a redraft of amendments, it remained for the delegation heads today to reach a final agreement on the section relating to the disposition of scrapped ships and also that fixing a status quo for Pacific fortifications, upon which the Japanese are now awaiting instructions from Tokyo.

Dispute Over Method of Scrapping
Although on the former the delegation chiefs were said to be in virtual agreement, the discussions over method of scrapping prescribed warships have aroused unusual interest among the naval experts of the conference. Each of the powers is permitted to build a specified number of such craft under the ratio agreement, and if the conversion were allowed, it is argued, much of the money already spent on hulls could be saved. Secretary Hughes is understood to have taken the position in the "big five" meetings, however, that to permit the use of discarded battleships in any way would not be in accord with the animating purpose of the Washington conference.

No Delay In Conference

While in French quarters the disposition to minimize the possible effect on the conference negotiations of the resignation of Premier Briand, of France, continued today, among American conference officials there was some apprehension that on the naval limitation program in particular it might have a far-reaching effect. No change in the personnel of the French delegation was expected to result, however, M. Sarraut, head of the delegation, having stated that although resigning as a member of the Briand cabinet, he would continue his work as a conference delegate. He said that he saw no reason why the development should result in the "last day" in the negotiations here.

Fort Hamilton Famous.

When British troops forced a landing the first shots by an outpost of Colonial troops were fired from the spot which later became Fort Hamilton. Then it was known as Denyse's Ferry. After the disastrous battle of Long Island in 1776, a fort was built. Efforts to find the cornerstone laid in 1825 were not successful. "Stonewall" Jackson was baptized at the little church, now St. John's, and one of the historic landmarks in the city, when he was stationed at the fort in 1840. Capt. Robert E. Lee, later the noted Confederate army general, was for years in command of the post and was a vestryman of the church. The batteries have been manned for the last half century by officers who have won fame in a hundred fields in defense of their country.

March HEALTH FACTS and September

More than seven times as many children die of measles in March than in September. Diphtheria and scarlet fever statistics show a similar trend of death rate.

Rarden Is Planning For General Cleanup

Mayor W. V. Scott and council members of Rarden village are preparing for a general cleanup of the town, according to plans being discussed.

The general cleanup is expected to come about through a number of new ordinances that are to be passed. Council in special session took under advisement ordinances thought to be needed most. They are not to be passed until the February meeting of council.

Some of the ordinances suggested for passage are:

- To prohibit smoking of cigarettes by children.
- To compel property owners to mow weeds adjacent to their property, and along streets and alleys, three times a year.
- To regulate pool rooms and to license them to the full limit of law.
- To regulate the use of fireworks.
- To modify present ordinances relating to leaving teams standing unattended for any length of time.
- To compel property owners to remove any obstruction of danger pertaining to streets or alleys, after said obstruction had been placed by them.
- To prevent obstruction of sidewalks by trucks, wagons or any vehicle.
- To prohibit spitting on sidewalks.
- To prohibit use of profane language on public streets.

Agree To Sell Many Treasury Certificates

According to an announcement by the Savings Division of the Fourth Federal Reserve District, the postmasters of Ohio have pledged themselves to dispose of at least $3,000,000 worth of the New 1922 Treasury Savings Certificates during the month of January, 1922. The postmasters have divided up this amount among themselves as follows:

- First class offices—$20,000 each.
- Second class offices—$10,000 each.
- Third class offices—$5,000 each.
- Fourth class offices—$2,500 each.

According to Postmaster Vallee Harold these new certificates pay a higher rate of interest than those issued in previous years—namely 4 1/2 per cent compounded annually. They run for 5 years, but can be redeemed at any time before maturity, and any individual, co-partnership or corporation can own up to $5,000 of the new issue, solely the safest form of investment. They are issued in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $25 at cost prices of $800, $400 and $200 each. They are also for any quantity desired.

Back To Spain For Charlot And His 17 Bulls

By ALEXANDER HERMAN

NEW YORK—The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has put the skills under Charlot Molina's 17 fighting Spanish bulls. Also under Charlot.

And under Charlot's ambitious plan to fight a bull in Madison Square Garden.

Charlot is disconsolate. "All the way from Spain," he wailed, gesticulating after the manner of the bull ring, "I bring a de fine 17 bulls."

"They are wonderful—undefeatable. Except, of course, by me."

"We have been told in Spain that the American sport is always throwing the bull."

But They Won't Let Him

"Yet they won't let me do him. It is sad."

"Said" waving his hand.

"Said" shaking his fist.

"Five thousand dollars a week I cost me for these 17 bulls—they eat so much and sleep so long. It is terrible. I can't afford him."

"But I got me a lawyer now. He will show them."

A hurly-burly outside began playing the Toreador Song from Carmen.

"The whole world knows about me," Charlot smiled. He raised his voice again. He was not going to be downed by anything—grand opera or the S. P. C. A.

"It must be that this society considers me the animal," I am insulted."

CHARLOT MOLINA

It is to prevent cruelty to the animal that they say I cannot fight the bull. "Yes, they must think me the animal."

"For how could I be cruel to the bull—with a red scarf? That was all I asked to use."

"I would not kill the bull—ah, not. But I COULD kill him. I am the bull killer—king of the matadors. I have killed one thousand bulls in my lifetime."

"It is so sad!"

Charlot's A Dude

Charlot pulled out a handkerchief and—Dusted his shoes.

BURNS ARE FATAL TO MRS. CATTELL

Shock suffered by Mrs. Addie Cattell when she was severely burned by scalding water last week during a tussle with her husband at their home 310 Third street, caused her death at Hempstead hospital at 12:15 o'clock this morning.

She was seriously burned about the neck, shoulders and back by the water from a tea kettle picked up by the woman during a quarrel with her husband early last week.

Mrs. Cattell was taken to Hempstead hospital where it was thought for a time that she would get along nicely. Later her condition changed and for the last few days had been in a serious condition. It became alarming last evening and her husband was summoned. He was at her bedside when the end came early this morning.

Mrs. Cattell had not been in the best of health and when she was burned the shock she suffered was too much for her frail body and she passed away after many hours of suffering.

Mrs. Cattell was formerly Miss Addie Lyles, a native of Lewis county, Ky. She was a daughter of C. B. and Mary Lyles. The last thirteen years of her life had been spent in Ohio. After a short time in this city the family moved to Adams county and about four years ago returned to this city.

Mrs. Cattell was 34 years of age. She was survived by her husband, Clifford Cattell and four children, Thelma, 11, an invalid, Edward 10, Robert 7, and Virgil 4. She also leaves her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lyles of Front street near Market, two sisters, Mrs. A. Wise of Portsmouth and Mrs. Dora Kuhn of Wooster, O., and four brothers, Robert, Glenn and Wilbert Lyles of this city and Chester of Colburn, Germany. Mrs. Cattell was a member of the Methodist church.

In Huntington

S. A. Stewart, Schenerville Ford dealer was a business visitor to Huntington Friday.

The Ohio State Journal of Columbus of local interest Friday said:

A game refuge of at least 1,000 acres in every county in the state by July 1 is the aim of the state fish and game department. A. C. Baxter, chief, told Ohio game protectors yesterday.

He asked the protectors to pick out the farms and arrange for leases. No lease is to cost more than $1 and the period of the lease is to be at least five years.

These lands will be protected against hunting and will be stocked with game, so the overflow may provide game for hunters in territory around the refuges. Protectors told of increase in game in the 27 counties in which refuges have been established.

Baxter complimented his inspectors on their work in 1921, saying $25,000 in fines was collected and 1200 arrests made since Sept. 1.

Applause greeted Baxter's announcement that no more fish hatcheries will be established with hunters' license funds.

The inspectors, who constitute an organization known as the Ohio Fish and Game Inspectors' Association, adopted a resolution calling for an anglers' license law.

Director of Agriculture, Taber said game conservation is as important as any other work of the department of agriculture.

R. B. Peck, Jefferson, was elected president of the association; F. M. Cherrington, Jackson, vice president.

New Officers Installed

Orient No. 12 Loyal Legion Association, I. O. O. F. held their first meeting of the new year last evening. After the regular routine of business was transacted the incoming officers were installed by the installing officer, Lieut. Col. J. F. Hobbs.

The retiring President, Lady Anna Brunner, has had a most successful year.

The auxiliary, though young in years is slowly and surely carrying out the intentions of the parent lodge in that of creating an interest among the wives and daughters of the Cantons, once each month a business meeting is held at the hall corner Fifth and Court street, and once each month a social is held at the homes of some of the members and a good time is had. After the work was over the ladies sprung a surprise on the Cantons by secretly planning a hot lunch and all repaired to the dining room where a good time was held. Twenty-four members were present.

All Kinds Of Weather On Tap

All kinds of weather was unceremoniously by the Weather Man today. Rain fell early this morning, then sleet for a short time and a real old-fashioned snow storm prevailed this afternoon, and then the sun came out. As a result Mother Earth is covered with a blanket of "The Beautiful," the first real snow of the winter.

Spared, But Doomed

These two birds are what remain of President Harding's Thanksgiving Christmas and New Year dinners. They were among the many rescued during the holidays and by grace of the order of their arrival, were spared to die later.

Jailer And Prisoner Fight; Both In Hospital

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Jan. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Jailer William Housner and Al Tucker, 28, a prisoner, are in the hospital as the result of a fight in the city jail, late yesterday. Tucker was arrested, crazed with delirium, and according to the police, when the jailer entered the "bull pen," Tucker attacked him. Tucker cut loose at Housner with his feet. The jailer sustained a broken thumb on the first kick. The prisoner was thrown to an iron cot, from which he rolled, breaking his leg, the police said. Other prisoners joined the battle. It was quelled by the police reserves.

GOMPERS OPPOSES EQUALITY FOR WOMEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., January 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—Eugene V. Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued today, on the ground that it would result in "destruction of standards and standards now established for the protection of women in industry."

Discrimination. A salesman recently told the New Street magistrate that no swearing is allowed nowadays in Covent Garden Market. This exclusion of all gobs, rappers and spring-loading victims is surely rather drastic.—Punch (London).

HIGH WAGES ARE ATTRACTING WOMEN

Miss Miriam Morris

"If you are a woman and you want to work and make big wages, I advise you to go to your physician, pains in the back, and a sore drug store and buy a bottle of Popen. It will give you the greater portion of the cure."

"Popen costs but little and it does wonders in the way of curing faults of the stomach, kidneys and liver. Every person who is troubled in this way should try it. Don't wait another day. Time is precious. Why suffer with sick headaches, constipation, nervousness, sleeplessness, sallow complexion, pains in the back, and other symptoms that are caused by Popen. It will give you the greater portion of the cure."

RHEUMATISM

All Torturing Pains and Swollen Joints Quickly Vanish When Rheuma is Used

At last a real remedy for rheumatism. And a good one it is when drugs exist everywhere so it on the no-nonsense basis.

Rheumatism should halt this news with great rejoicing for it is surely a remarkable remedy and has a record of almost unbelievable cures. Read what L. B. Shaw, Prairie City, Ill., says about it: "I was afflicted with Sciatic Rheumatism, suffering for months with such terrible pains and burning sensations that it almost crazed me. It affected my left leg, running downward to the end of my toes. It was too painful to permit me to get out of bed. Tried medicine after medicine without relief until an old friend who had been similarly troubled said: 'Why don't you use Rheuma?' It is the best remedy for rheumatism I ever heard of. He had visited and bathed and other places, but nothing did him any good until he used Rheuma. After this information I sent for a bottle and before using more than half the contents I experienced a change for the better. Less than two bottles made a well man of me. Having followed railroad work for 32 years and being well acquainted in several states, I will answer any inquiry regarding my case. If you have rheumatism in any form, don't delay—try Rheuma today. Wurster Bros. will supply you and guarantee money refunded if it does not give quick and lasting relief.—Advertisement.

Cactus Responsible for Coccinell. Among its other virtues, the cactus gives us the coccinell—the insect used for coloring. Lawrencebook, in 1703, discovered that it was the female of an insect (Coccinella), which never moved from a certain spot on the cactus, the male being the active member of the family but colorless, and therefore useless. These insects are harvested three times during the dry season, being swept from the cactus into wide-mouthed bags with stiff brushes and killed in boiling water or hot ovens, after which they are dried in the sun and put up in small packages for the market. In this thoroughly dried condition 70,000 insects are required to make a pound.

Dance Tax May Be Levied On Woman's Club

The Cincinnati Times-Star this Thursday morning reports that the club is a "social center." Of course

Following a ceremony Tuesday between Mrs. H. Kenneth Pumphrey and United States Revenue Collector Charles M. Pumphrey, the negotiations between conservative and liberal factions of the Cincinnati Woman's Club were carried to Washington for the session.

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. L. Carter, R. Fox, former president of the club, took up with Charles Fox, the question of whether the club is still to be regarded as "international" and exempt from paying a social and therefore subject to taxation. Mrs. Fox, on behalf of

This act has, Mr. Day believed, a limited meaning, the effect is, Monday, when showing it women in the club, promoters was prohibited, but not a total ban on women for admission. The limited act is a permit for further action to be suggested and advised.

"Nothing which has or would be entered in the charge of the clubs of the world," Mrs. Pugham declared, "and directors duly appointed."

Should be ruled in Washington that permission to dance at the Cheltenham Women's club places it in the social class, which no member should be admitted to. The club pay $1.75 tax, according to the Federal government. The total would exceed $1200.

BILLION DOLLAR DECREASE IN TRADE BALANCE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—A decrease of nearly one billion dollars in the favorable trade balance of the United States during 1920 was indicated in the foreign trade statistics for December issued today by the commerce department.

Exports decreased in value in 1920 by $1,743,000,000 and imports by $2,777,000,000, the report said, attributing much of the reduction to the material decline last year in prices of commodities which made up the bulk of the country's foreign trade.

There is a figure which may be brought out prominently in certain kinds of woods, mostly those of tropical origin, says the American Forestry Magazine. This is variously known as rose, ribbon grain, feather grain, etc., and appears as narrow to broad longitudinal stripes, alternating light and dark. This is due, not to actual differences in color, but to the way in which the light is reflected by the different layers.

GOVERNOR URGES OHIO
PEOPLE TO BURN COAL
MINED IN THIS STATE

COLUMBUS, O., January 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Governor Davis in a proclamation today urged Ohio people to burn Ohio mined coal in an effort to alleviate suffering and privation among miners, many of whom, with their families, are reported on the brink of starvation through enforced idleness.

He requests mayors and heads of other political subdivisions to inaugurate a policy of using only Ohio coal for all the fuel needs of public agencies under their direction and to recommend to the public in each locality a similar course, in order that work may be provided for the idle miners of the state.

Depend On Mining For Living
"There are 275,000 people in Ohio who are directly dependent upon coal mining for a livelihood," the proclamation sets forth. "Of the state's 88 counties, there are 21 in which coal mining constitutes either the sole industry or one of the main sources of livelihood. In some of these districts coal miners have not had a day's work for over six months. In that time the longest period of employment any miner has enjoyed has hardly exceeded thirty days."

Do Not Want Charity
"Ohio miners do not want charity," the proclamation declared. "They want no more than work and their just wage, that winter would stimulate coal production and produce work, has failed to materialize."

It is certain that unless action is taken promptly to meet this situation, thousands of families will suffer the extremities of destitution before the winter is over.

Discharge City Boss Of Akron

AKRON, O., January 13. (By the Associated Press.) Councilmen announced today that they are ready to call another special meeting of City Administrator W. J. Lamb, who was discharged yesterday afternoon, demands that charges be placed against him and that he be given a hearing. Lamb must ask for charges by next Tuesday, the date that his dismissal takes effect. This is in accordance with the home rule charter. The dismissed administrator refused comment today.

In the meantime, city councilmen are receiving applications for the position of administrator. Plans have been made to make the appointment next Tuesday.

No action was taken today on the demand made by Congressman C. L. Knight, through his newspaper yesterday, that the grand jury investigate charges made by Lamb and Service Director Earl Zeisler, that Knight and other politicians brought pressure to bear on the officials in the awarding of public improvement contracts.

Lamb is Akron's first city manager. He was elected mayor and appointed city manager by council when the home rule government came into being. His dismissal has resulted in war among the local Republican leaders.

Enthusiasm Over Amnesty

DUBLIN, January 13. (By the Associated Press.) Materialization of the amnesty of political prisoners in Ireland has elicited more outward enthusiasm here than other developments in the peace activities. It may be remarked in passing that the choice of the phrase "act of oblivion" rather than an "act of clemency" in the announcement is recognized as a happy diplomatic stroke.

It is understood that a number of men freed from prisons in England will arrive today when further demonstrations are certain.

Meanwhile, preparations for the transfer of administrative authority to the new Irish government under Arthur Griffith continue. Sir Ernest Clark, under secretary for Ireland in the British government, arrived here last night, it is believed, in connection with the transfer.

MURDER VICTIM IS BURIED AT ZALESKI

RAMDEN, O., Jan. 13.—The funeral of Henry Malone, who was murdered living a mile and a half northwest of Portsmouth the first part of December, and three sons, Herman, married and not identified until a trial and living some place in the neighborhood of Zaleski, Ohio, was held at Zaleski Thursday. Henry, a stationery engineer of Ramden, was 38 years of age and Logan and Henry at home. Also two young daughters at home, Viola and Ermine. Three brothers, Charles, of the Zaleski neighborhood, Ed, of Elkhart, and Alice, two sisters whose residence is unknown also survive. Those who have known Mr. Malone say that he was intellectually very bright and genial, with a keen sense of humor, and had been fortunate enough to have had the advantage of education and training would have been rather a remarkable man.

similarity of the French policy would be demonstrated in a short time.

Eliminate the Grudge.

There are not many homes that do not shelter at least one hideous piece of furniture. This may be a chair with intricate legs or with absurdly carved arms, on which a lion grows or an eagle thunders, or it may be an old-fashioned sideboard with all sorts of meaningless, glimmering ornaments. Even good lines in furniture cannot make golden oak beautiful, and get much of this is still found in homes in which an effort to achieve beauty is made. Often it is by clearing away the most strikingly ugly pieces that harmony is achieved. The idea that only by adding to the objects in the house can one add to the beauty of the interior is far from correct.

Women vs. Men.

According to a famous London specialist women cannot stand prolonged physical strain nearly as well as men. This is due, he says, to the fact that women have weaker nervous systems.

German Press Anticipates Hard Period With Poincare

The German press in general anticipates an unpleasant period for Germany from the expected Poincare regime. It sees in M. Poincare's return a studied effort against France. Some of the newspapers predict satisfaction over the advent of Poincare, expressing belief that the ab-

"You'll drink?" Joe asked Bill. The woodsman's face was grave. "Wolfpack, it's against the law of this province to give or receive liquor from Indians," he replied gravely. "I won't drink tonight."

Pete turned with a scowl. His thought had already flashed to his white blade at his belt. "You're damn particular," he began. But Joe shook his head, restraining him. The hour to strike had not yet come. They must enjoy their liquor first and engender fresh courage from its fire.

"Have a drink?" Joe asked Virginia. She didn't like the tone of his voice. He was speaking with entire familiarity, and again she expected interference from Harold. Her fiancé, however, was fingering the bottle. She saw Bill straighten, ever so little, and he held the first signs of rising anger in the set of his lips.

"No," the girl responded coldly. The others poured themselves mighty drinks—staggering portions that more than half-filled the first of the quarts. Then they drew back their heads and drained the cups.

XXX
A little toast—and everybody stand up! Harold, getting drunker, finally proposed.

"We're going to drink to Virginia! To my future wife, gentlemen—the lady who's promised me her hand! Look at her there, you breeds—the most beautiful woman that ever came to the North! Drink her down!"

The burning poison poured into their throats. Virginia glanced at her pistol. Her face was no longer merely anxious. Bill sat, helpless and blind, against the wall.

She had not dared to resent aloud the handling of her name, the insult of their searching eyes upon her beauty.

It seemed to her that she heard a half-muttered exclamation from Bill, but his face belied it. And in reality the man's thoughts were as busy as never before.

He opened his eyes, struggling for vision. But he could not make out the forms of the men at all, except when they crossed in front of the candles.

The candles themselves were mere points of yellow between his lids.

The men drank another round, emptying the first quart and beginning upon the second.

"You're a pretty little witch," Harold addressed Virginia. "You're worth having. What you think about that, Joe? Aren't I telling you the truth?"

Joe! Bill's first impression had been right after all. Virginia heard the name too and her fears increased.

"Joe?" she repeated. "You know him, then?"

"Of course I know Joe. He's an old friend. He's one that Bill told never to show his face in this part of Clearwater again—but you don't see anything happening to him, do you?"

He waited, hoping that Bill would make response. But the latter was holding hard.

"You see he hasn't anything to say," Harold gleamed. "I asked you a question, Joe—about Virginia. Didn't I tell the truth?"

"I don't know," Joe replied. "She's" pretty enough. But I've never kissed her."

The girl flinched, then caught herself with a half-sob. She resolved to make one more appeal.

"Oh, Harold, please—please be careful what you say," she pleaded. "You're drunk now—but don't forget you were a gentleman—once. Don't drink any more. Don't let these Indians drink any more either."

"A gentleman once, eh? So you don't think I'm one any more. But Bill there—he's one, ain't he? It seems to me you've been getting kind of bossy around here, lately—and the women of no northern men don't behave that way."

"I'm not your woman, thank God—and I ask you to be careful."

"So you're not my woman, eh?"

"No, no, no—I never will be." The girl's eyes were blazing, and she had forgotten her fear in her magnificent wrath.

There ensued a moment of strange and menacing silence. Pete chuckled already receptive to Joe's thought. Harold turned to stare at him.

Joe put his pipe to his lips, then fumbled at his pocket. He seemed to search in vain. "Will you give me a match, please, lady?" he asked.

The tone was strange, thick and strained, yet Virginia's heart thrilled with hope. Perhaps if these men started to smoke, their blood would cool. She turned quickly to the shelf above Bill's head and procured half a dozen matches from the box.

As her back was turned she heard Pete laugh again.

Instinctively her eyes turned to the wall for a reassuring sight of her pistol. It was gone from its place.

She looked at Joe; his evil, leering face told her only too plain that his eager hand had seized and secreted her pistol. Pete's face was drawn, too; Harold only looked bewildered.

He was her last hope, but in one instant's scrutiny she saw that this last vanished, too. Some terrible thought had sobered and engrossed him.

"What is it, Virginia?" Bill asked. "One of these men—" she answered brokenly—"has taken my pistol. I want him to give it back—"

Joe spoke then, a single sentence in the vernacular for Harold's ears. With one gesture he indicated Harold, himself and Pete in turn then pointed to the girl. His face was hideous with eagerness.

Harold started at the words. His degeneracy was complete. He answered with a curse.

"Why not?" he said. "The girl's thrown me over. When I'm through you can do what you want. And crack the skull of that mole with the pick and throw him out in the snow."

The two Indians lurched forward at his words. Bill left his chair in a mighty leap.

XXVI
WHEN Bill sprang forward to intercept the attack upon the girl he came with amazing accuracy and power.

By means of his acute ear he had located the exact position of every actor in the impending drama.

What was more important, he knew the location of both candles. He dashed both out.

The act had been so swift and unexpected that neither Joe, standing nearest the girl, or Harold across the room could draw their pistols and fire. Seemingly in a flash the darkness was upon them. Bill was faced to face with his enemies in his own dark hair. The advantage of vision on which they had presumed had been in an instant removed.

Harold cursed in the darkness; as if in a continuation of the leap he had made to to upset the candles. "Bill, seize Virginia in his strong arms."

He thrust her to the floor and into the angle between her back and the wall, the point that he instinctively realized would be easiest to defend and safest from stray bullets.

Virginia's pistol was in Joe's hand by now, and he shot in Bill's direction. Two spurts of yellow fire broke for an instant the utter gloom. But there was no time for the third shot. He was nearest of the three attackers. Bill's outstretched arms seized him. The woodsman's muscles gave a mighty spasm.

His grasp was about Joe's chest at first, but with a great lurch he slung the man's body out far enough so that he could look his sinewy arms about the man's knees.

Then with a terrific wrench of his mighty shoulder Bill hurled him against the wall.

His back was broken like a match. The odds were but two to one.

Harold had taken out his own revolver now and was shooting blindly in the darkness. Ducking low, Bill leaped for him; in a moment they were grappling in each other's arms.

Bill wrenched him back and forth and in an instant would have crushed the life out of him if it hadn't been for the interference of Pete.

The latter breed leaped on his back, and Bill had to neglect Harold an instant to stretch up his arms and hurl Pete to the floor.

They were both powerful men, the breed and Harold; and Bill was like a wild beast.

In the instant that he was free from Bill's arms and he knew that his confederate was out of range, Harold fired blindly with his pistol.

Their bodies crashed against the wall, broke the furniture into kindling at their feet; they snarled their hatred and their curses.

Bill fought like a giant, a might of battle upon him never known before. But steadily Harold and Pete were learning to work together.

THIS NECK WAS BROKEN LIKE A MATCH. THE ODDS WERE BUT TWO TO ONE.

One lucky blow sent Pete spinning backward and Bill's strong arms hurled Harold after him.

All three contestants seemed to swoop to the fray with added fury.

They clashed, staggered, reeled, then crashed to the floor.

Then—above the sound of their writhing bodies—Virginia heard Pete exclaim.

"Hold him—just a second!" Pete cried. The breed had remembered his knife. It was curious that he hadn't thought of it before.

He took it rather carefully from the holster. The two men were thrashing on the floor by now, Harold in a desperate effort to keep his enemy down. Pete's hand fumbled in his pocket.

He didn't want to run the risk of slaying his confederate. His hand found a match; he raised his knife high. The match cracked, then flamed in the darkness.

But it was not to be that that murderous blow should go home. Virginia had crawled out to find her pistol that Joe's hand had let fall, and just before Pete had lighted his match her hand had encountered it on the floor.

It seemed to leap in her hand as the match flamed.

The pistol shot rang in the silence. The knife dropped from Pete's hand. He turned with a look of glum surprise.

Then he went on his face, creeping like a leeching thing toward the door. (Continued in Our Next Issue.)

A Shrub a Year.

A man who makes nature study his hobby plants a new kind of shrub every fall in his back yard. He says his feeling and desiring in the coming spring are something to look forward to through the winter, and so he keeps himself in a condition of curiosity and expectation and life never goes quite stale. He says nothing of the beauty of that back yard, but his friends and neighbors can testify to that. Some people buy some object of art or a piece of beautiful furniture every year. This is all right as a means of accumulating property, and of developing a sense of beauty in regard to the inorganic world. But the nature-lover's little shrub has no quality which any inanimate object has—the possibility of growth and development in ever-surprising ways. It keeps the imagination alive. It keeps the possessor on tip-toe with expectation, and that is what makes life worth living.—Concord Monitor.

Delegations Study Draft Of Treaty Prepared By Legal And Naval Experts

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.—(By the Associated Press)—Delegations of the five naval powers continued today their separate study of the draft treaty prepared by naval and legal experts to cover their naval limitation agreement. The treaty was given to the several delegations for study late yesterday and the time required for this caused a postponement of the meeting of the full naval committee originally planned for today until tomorrow. The committee was expected, however, to reach final agreement on the text within two or three days and the treaty to be ready for publication in the world at a plenary session of the conference on Thursday of Friday.

New Features in Pact
Although a carefully guarded secret in both substance and text, the tentative draft is understood to include a number of wholly new features, chief among these a proposal to extend the duration of the pact until 1927, this not in the day of delegation heads to compare opinions on detailed provisions of the draft. The treaty was given to the several delegations for study late yesterday and the time required for this caused a postponement of the meeting of the full naval committee originally planned for today until tomorrow. The committee was expected, however, to reach final agreement on the text within two or three days and the treaty to be ready for publication in the world at a plenary session of the conference on Thursday of Friday.

Limit Merchant Ship Guns
The treaty draft would settle the merchantmen to six inch guns, thus making armed merchantmen definitely inferior to regular or converted naval auxiliary vessels which may carry eight inch guns, and also, it is understood, by prohibiting the conversion of any commercial vessel of more than 10,000 tons into a naval auxiliary. Although it was expected these provisions would be finally accepted, the merchant ship problems was still one of the questions of definition which were understood to be the chief concern of the delegates in their efforts to agree on a wording acceptable to everyone.

Seek to Settle the Shantung Problems
With the arrangement program of the conference nearing final disposition, the delegates were preparing today to press to an early conclusion also the Far Eastern discussions and to this end it was apparent that Shantung negotiations were being turned into new channels with revived hopes of agreement. The nature of the latest move had not been revealed, but both the Chinese and Japanese implied that new and promising elements had been injected into the negotiations. Believing that the other remaining elements of discord in the Far East were not of a nature to lead to extended debates, some of the delegates were so optimistic regarding the outlook as to predict a plenary session for Saturday or Monday to announce completion of the Far Eastern treaty.

Arthur A. Balfour, head of the British delegation, had completed definite arrangements today to sail for home next Tuesday and his colleagues on the delegation said it was entirely probable that he would sign the Far Eastern agreement before his departure.

Existence of Catholic Church Today, A Miracle
The Catholic Church has changed the face of the earth. It found the Roman Empire pagan, and it made it Christian, by means which, humanly considered, were utterly inadequate. Its members were poor, its rulers often martyrs, and the religion they preached opposed to all that flatters human nature, since they inculcated the sternest virtue, the loftiest morality, and the greatest self-sacrifice. That the Catholic Church exists today at all is a miracle. Despite constant persecution, its hold on the hearts of men is ever increasing. CATHOLIC MISSIONARIES FIRST INTRODUCED THE SUGARCANE TO THE SOUTH. These ads inserted daily and paid for by several Catholic business men of Portsmouth, who believe in their religion.

Chicago Grain And Provisions

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Wheat prices declined in the early trading today, owing largely to selling based on the French cabinet crisis. Besides, indications pointed to a poor export demand. Some increase of railroad loading in the northwest, was also noted. Initial quotations, which varied from 85c to 86c lower, with May 1.10 to 1.10 1/2 and July 99 to 99 1/2, were followed by a moderate further setback and then something of a rally.

The close was unsettled 5c to 1 1/2c net higher, May 1.11 1/4 to 1.11 1/2 and July 1.00 to 1.00 1/2.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening unchanged to 1 1/2c higher, May 53 1/4 to 53 1/2, the corn market continued to sag. Oats started unchanged to 1/2c higher, May 28 1/2 to 28 1/2, and later showed slight general losses.

More hog arrivals than expected had a depressing effect on provision values. The close was unsettled, 1 1/2c to 1 1/4c net decline with May 52 1/2 to 52 1/2 1/2.

The situation in the foreign markets is very strong, as for the good market and the tariff situation there seem to be little change.

Bird Lore.
The color of birds can be changed within five generations by keeping them in a white room, with white surroundings and attended by persons wearing white. Scientists say it is nature's way of taking care of the birds so that they will harmonize with the background in which they live.

Bats, it has been discovered by an Italian naturalist, have a small sense organ situated on the middle wall of the tympanic cavity of their ears.

The removal of this organ destroys their sense of balance. The scientist concludes that it is by means of this organ that the bird is able to determine the density of the air through which it moves and regulates its wing movement accordingly.

What is Fastest Living Animal?
Man makes a poor show, for the speed of our best sprinters is little more than 20 miles an hour. For some time it was thought that the whippet, which covers a furlong course in about 11 seconds, could claim the title; but his speed, which works out at just over 40 miles an hour, is nowhere when compared with that of the antelope, who is capable of reaching a speed of over 60 miles an hour and of keeping it up for some time. What of the racehorse? His great size and his long stride give a false impression of his speed. The pace of the fastest winner on the race track is not much more than 30 miles an hour.

"Ye Actor."
"Pa, what's an actor?" An actor, my boy, is a person who can walk to the side of a stage, peer into the wings at a group of other actors waiting for their cues, a number of bored stage hands, and a lot of theatrical odds and ends, and exclaim: "What a lovely view there is from this window!"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth," bad breath, a dull, tired feeling, sick headache, torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 1c and 30c.

FAVORABLE REPORT ON GAME PRESERVE IS MADE TO GOVERNOR DAVIS; TO PURCHASE MUCH LAND

PEEBLES TRACT IS SELECTED

COLUMBUS, O., January 12.—(By the Associated Press.) Purchase of 28,000 acres of land in the southern part of the state near Portsmouth, and in the northern section of Ohio near Oak Harbor or Sandusky for purposes of public game preserves and reforestation was recommended to Governor Davis today in a report made by a special legislative committee to consider the subject.

Purchases recommended were: Six thousand acres in Scioto county, known as the Peebles tract; contiguous lands to the extent of 20,000 acres or more, all to be devoted to the use of the public as hunting grounds and game refuges under authority of the Atwood law. An additional contiguous ten thousand acres to be reforested under the Silver act.

Sections of marsh lands along Lake Erie, including the following: 2,800 acres near Oak Harbor known as the McGee marsh, or the Huron marsh east of Sandusky; east west and middle harbors near Sandusky, these properties to be at the disposal of the public for shooting and fishing and such portions of them as may be designated by the state fish and game division for fish hatcheries and spawning grounds and wild fowl refuges.

The committee reported that the Scioto county lands are worth not to exceed five dollars an acre, and advised condemnation proceedings where present owners demand more. Attention was directed to the fact that the Silver act appropriated $50,000 for reforestation work. The committee urges that the state forester have immediate charge of all lands thus acquired.

The McGee marsh has first consideration as a preserve and public fishing grounds on the Lake Erie front, with the Huron marsh as second choice.

Members of the committee making the report are State Senators George E. Kryder, of Henry county; J. P. Atwood, of Columbus; and William M. Miller, of Dresden, and State Representatives John J. Chester, of Cuyahoga county; Oscar M. Hines, of Cuyahoga county; and Fred Edgington, of Cleveland.

SOCIETY

Members of the Ketchikan Auxiliary of the Second Presbyterian church and their husbands sprang an overwhelming surprise on their pastor, and his wife, Rev. and Mrs. Hugh I. Evans, last evening when sixty-five strong, they stormed the reception hall of the manse. Hilarity ran high all evening and under the spirited direction of Mr. Harry Denton, there were no tears except those wrung on account of the excessive laughter. The party assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marling, on Eighth street and went from there to the manse, where they found Rev. Evans alone. Later Mrs. Evans came to share in the surprise, which was complete.

During the course of the festivities sides were set to nothing when Mr. Clarence E. Nodder and Miss Anna Heinisch posing as bride and groom, with only a limited time to don their outer garments and catch the train for New York proved their agility and qualified for the "Last Dressers Association."

Every one brought presents and the surprise party was changed to a passing party in which every one figured. Before leaving for their homes at a late hour delicious refreshments were passed about, and everyone expressed their sentiment to the committee in the words of the poet when he said: "A good time was had by all."

Mrs. Albert Miller delightfully entertained the members of the Ketchikan club yesterday afternoon at her home on Eleventh street. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in games, music and needlework, and at five o'clock an appetizing repast was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Clyde Kessinger. Members present were: Mrs. Edward Akers, Mrs. Robert Holbrook, Mrs. Samuel Wellman, Mrs. Gordon Freeman, Mrs. Albert Schleicher, Mrs. Carl P. Bauer, Mrs. Herbert Kall, Mrs. Maurice Cooper, Mrs. Carl Smith and the hostess. Guests for the afternoon other than the club members included Mrs. Clyde Kessinger. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Albert Schleicher on Union street.

The ladies of All Saints' church will hold a bazaar sale tomorrow afternoon, beginning at one o'clock at Frederick's garage on Union street. Home made pies, cakes, bread and various other good things will be on sale.

One of the most pleasant affairs of the many that the elders of the First Christian church have participated in in recent months, was their regular monthly meeting at the home of F. W. Sheridan 1614 Grandview avenue last evening. Elder Sheridan, big hearted and sociable, asked the elders to feel along their wives to this meeting that they might enjoy the evening together as well as the men folks. The rest of the elders took him at his word and they were there as follows: Walter Bagley, E. G. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Deeds, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Ramey, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Howland, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Light and Mrs. L. L. Craden. Mrs. William Mrs. Emily and Mr. Craden were absent from the meeting. Mrs. Nellie Marlow assisted Mrs. Sheridan in serving refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Mrs. S. L. Gilbert extended the hospitality of her home, 634 Sixth street, to the members of the Wednesday Afternoon Bridge Club Wednesday afternoon as a courtesy to the club for the delightful time she has enjoyed as substitute at their various meetings. After several interesting games of bridge the hostess served an appetizing lunch at the small tables. Guests enjoying the afternoon with Mrs. Gilbert were Mrs. James A. Hager, Mrs. Hattie Russell, Mrs. Grace L. Goodwin, Mrs. Frank E. Imhoff, Mrs. James S. Thomas, Miss Isabella Kinney, Mrs. Robert L. Gilbert and Mrs. Samuel Howland.

Mrs. Bayless cordially received the members of the Justman club this afternoon at her home on Lincoln street. Serving interlarded with pleasant conversation made merry the afternoon hours and before adjournment the members had finished the knitting of a comfort for the Red Cross. A tempting lunch came as an afterthought to a pleasant and profitable afternoon.

FEATHERS, FEATHERS EVERYWHERE

By MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK—Feathers for her fan! Feathers for her hat!

Indeed feathers have become a tremendously "dress up" thing this season.

They go to the theater and restaurants on evening hats and dinner gowns.

There is a very pleasing air of premeditation about a hat and fan which match. It isn't a loveliness which just happens.

This Marie Louise hat is of white ostrich and ermine.

Selection Of Arbuckle Jury Continues

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., January 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—The state today had left four peremptory challenges and the defense ten for use in continuing selection of a jury in superior court, opened in the second trial of Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle, charged with manslaughter following out of the death here September 9, last, of Miss Virginia Ruppe, motion picture actress.

When court adjourned yesterday, eleven jurors had been passed temporarily and only eleven persons remained in the original empanelment of 65. It is considered probable a second empanelment will be necessary.

The jury in the first trial of Arbuckle disagreed.

Miss Ruppe died, the prosecution contends, as a result of injuries inflicted by the defendant at a party in his rooms in the Hotel St. Francis.

Vic Not To Announce For Awhile

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 13.—Vic Donahy, former state auditor, will not announce his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor for a while, it was said today. Meanwhile, the former auditor continues to meet party leaders at a local hotel. Leaders without exception, it was said, insist he is the logical candidate.

Donahy will defer announcement. It is understood, until after he has conferred with former Governor Harmon. He denied former Chief Justice Nichols of the supreme court, had informed him he would not be a candidate for the nomination.

OSTPON—A "substantial increase in business activity" is due about April, according to predictions by the Harvard University Committee on Economic Research.
The committee points out that in previous depressions, such as 1903 and 1907, business revival came 10 to 12 months after the beginning of a marked decline in interest rates.
Decline in interest rates has been going on since May, 1921. Basing its prediction on precedent, the Harvard committee thinks April, 1922, is the logical date for a substantial upward movement of business.

MRS. KATHERINE O. RAUSER, HER DOLL CLOTHES FACTORY AND ONE OF THE SHOW CASES.

By NEA Service

CHICAGO—When a business woman's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of—doll clothes!

What then?

Fortune and success—in the case of Mrs. Katherine A. Rauser, head of a $100,000 corporation.

Employs 100 Women
Sixteen years ago she was a clerk in a department store. Today the business which she conceived out of the air castles of her dreams—an industry devoted to the manufacture of detachable doll clothing—brings her a handsome income and gives employment to 100 other women.

Mrs. Rauser's factory is really a dress-making establishment of the highest order, where doll costumes receive as much attention as do those for women of the most particular dress tastes.

New Styles Each Year

Each year, now, brings a new style in doll clothing. Everything from ball-room frocks to bathing suits.

The Rauser factory covers 10,000 square feet of space and has elaborate show rooms. Orders come from all corners of the globe.

Mrs. Rauser says it is all the result of her dreams.

"This is the age of feminine achievement," she says. "Women are coming into their own at last. They have capacities for success never before realized."

"As creators women have the advantage over men. It is their business to create. The coming generation will show what women can do when this faculty is given a chance to assert itself in the business world."

New Athletic Field Assured

It was learned Friday that Mayor William N. Gableman and several other local citizens have taken steps to enclose the Sixteenth street ball lot and convert it into a real ball park.

The huge lot is to be enclosed with an eight foot fence and a new grandstand will be erected, one that will be modern and have a seating capacity of 1,500. The plans of the promoters it is learned, is to give the city what it has long needed an accessible, up-to-date athletic field.

A long term lease is to be secured on the ground and the field will be right up to the minute with its ornate entrances and clubhouse, etc.

Mayor Gableman believes that his crack ball club will draw record crowds in his new park.

P. H. S. will play all its football and baseball games in the new park.

Anniversary Is Celebrated

One of the best and biggest social gatherings held by Louise Lodge D. O. in recent months was the one held last evening when the twenty-fifth anniversary of the local lodge was fittingly celebrated. Barn Gari hall was crowded all evening by Louise lodge members and their friends.

Jacob F. Kah, ex-grand officer of the state, was present and gave an address in which he complimented the local lodge on the fine work that has been done in this city by the members. He spoke of the past history of the order, and prophesied great things for the year which is still young.

City Cash Register Is Jazz Mayor's Latest

MAYOR GEORGE L. OLES AT THE CASH REGISTER HE INSTALLED.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 12.—George L. Oles, Youngstown's jazz mayor, elected as an independent in a three-cornered race, has started his term in office like a twin-six thrown in high.

Oles has installed a cash register in the city hall.

So when you go in and pay your taxes or take out a postoffice license the city clerk take your money, puts it in the cash register and rings it up with a loud clang.

And Oles has announced he'll reform the police department by the simple expedient of letting it reform itself.

And he's reforming.

"I'll give 'em a chance," Oles says, "and they'll behave all right."

Then Oles issued a notice that married men with large families would be given preference in doing out jobs.

"Married women who are supporting or helping to support able-bodied husbands will be fired," the mayor added. "Let their husbands work and keep 'em."

"The public's going to know what's going on," Oles says. "I've got no strings tied to me. Everybody's got to behave, high and low alike."

Reforms Oles has under way are:

CLOSING 75 cafes and soft drink parlors.

DRIVING underworld denizens from town.

FORCING many fraternal and social organizations of high standing to close their bars.

PUTTING the lid on gambling.

CUTTING the city's $1,000,000 payroll to $500,000 if the council will let him.

KILLS SELF OVER ARREST OF HIS TWO DAUGHTERS FOR GRAND LARCENY

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., January 13.—(By the Associated Press)—Arrest of his two daughters on charges of grand larceny, was believed here today to have caused the death from shooting last night, of Amos B. Munday, county treasurer of Effingham county, at his home in Effingham. Requisitions for the return of his daughters to Ohio to stand trial were refused by Governor Small yesterday.

Mr. Munday left no explanation. It is said, his accounts as county treasurer, are said to be in good condition. Friends in Effingham say Mr. Munday's action, it is said, is the trouble involving his two daughters, Cleo and Beulah, last October.

They were charged with keeping an automobile belonging to a Mr. Wolff, of Cleveland, Ohio, who had been a salter of Cleo. A formal charge against them was lodged in Ohio, and requisitions asked, but Governor Small refused to honor the requisitions, stating that he doubted if any of the girls had been committed.

The girls said Wolff had given the automobile after a long friendship and "without any strings attached to it." Then when Cleo refused his further advances, he demanded the automobile back.

How Lloyd George Will Rebuild Europe

By NEA Service

LONDON.—David Lloyd George, British premier, will deliver the master stroke of his diplomatic career when he attempts a sweeping solution of Europe's economic ills at the world economic conference in Genoa.

He will use the same tact employed by Charles Evans Hughes, American secretary of state, who assembled the world by presenting a complete program of naval limitation at the first session of the Washington arms conference.

Lloyd George today is preparing just such a program—only along economic lines—to lay before the Genoa parley. And that's the primary purpose of the present international gathering at Cannes.

Premier's Program

Before the Cannes conference breaks up, Lloyd George hopes to have effected:

RECOGNITION by Great Britain, France and Italy of the Soviet government as the de jure government of Russia.

MODIFICATION of German reparations, both in amount and terms of payment.

PEACE between the Greeks and Turks in the Near East by pledging safety to Christian minorities in the affected area and guaranteeing to Turkey freedom of the Dardanelles.

CONSUMMATION of an alliance between Great Britain and France protecting France against aggression.

PERFECTION of schemes for the economic rehabilitation of Germany and Russia.

With a tentative solution of these problems reached the British premier believes he will have no difficulty in placing before the Genoa conference a scheme of world economic rehabilitation that will "get over" smoothly.

Another conference will be held at Bern, London or The Hague to consider purely European problems that will not come within the scope of the Genoa parley.

Low Steel Prices To Spur Buying

The average only 23 per cent higher than in 1915.

In 1917, the peak-year of inflation, in steel, the same prices averaged 120 per cent higher than in 1913.

These eight leading steel products are steel rails, plates, wire nails, steel beams, steel bars, tin plate, billets and pig iron.

Taking a ton of each of these and adding the prices, then dividing by eight to strike an average, $11 now buys what cost $91 in 1917 and $26.50 in 1915 and $40.00 in 1913.

Freight Burden

Making allowance for higher freight rates involved in the costs of making a ton of steel products, prices at the mills average as low as in 1917 and close to the 1913 mark.

Before the war, the cost of making a ton of pig iron in the Pittsburgh district included $5.24 freight charges for getting the iron ore and coke and lime stone to the furnaces and disposing of the slag. This freight cost is now about $10.50.

Freight charges make up to 40 per cent of present selling price of fabricated or structural steel, according to the Bridge Builders & Structural Society.

Buying Leases

Steel industry's leaders believe that, since the deflation has gone so far toward normal, the steel industry is due for a long-range buying movement within 30 days. Predictions are that buying will gain momentum gradually until operations reach normal in the autumn.

Railroads are making inquiries for big orders of steel rails. Export business is gaining steadily. In the domestic market, January is a seasonal quiet month.

12 DOLLARS A LINE!

That's what it costs to advertise in a certain well known magazine. And it carries hundreds of thousands of lines of advertising in every issue.

Isn't that positive proof of the value of advertising? Careful business men wouldn't spend this fortune time after time if the investment didn't bring returns.

Most likely this 12 dollar a line advertising wouldn't be the kind of advertising for you to use.

But there is a kind for you—a kind that you can use most profitably—that is bound to bring results. And it costs you only 10 cents a line.

It's classified advertising in The Portsmouth Papers.

Classified Advertising is the mighty power that will get you what you want when you want it.

When you're badly in need of something, you take the quickest way to satisfy that need. You tell somebody about it.

Now, doesn't it sound logical to say you can get what you want, quicker and easier and cheaper if you told a dozen or a hundred or a thousand people?

At the rate of 10 cents a line, you can tell your wants to the 75,000 readers of The Portsmouth Papers. Surely out of 75,000 people you will find many who are willing and anxious to serve you.

Your wants may be strange. They may be out of the ordinary. You may have tried other ways of satisfying them and failed.

Then try want ads. You are due for surprising results.

The best investment you ever made will be the little you spend in a Want Ad.

FACTORS IN DEPRESSION

TO many persons the present business depression is infinitely more enigmatical than it really ought to be. There are causes for it, some of them quite simple to the analytical mind of the business expert.

It is obvious that the great world disturbance due to the war is a primary and continuing cause of the present condition. From this stem sprout off many factors which play a part in holding back the business awakening so earnestly sought by every one of its many victims.

Entering into today's troubles are low productivity, the high cost of manufacturing, inefficient distribution and its high cost, the infinite variety of products, sluggish management of industry and poor finance and credit management. Any one of these constitutes a difficult barrier for business to hurdle.

While industrial production is higher than some time ago, it is still below normal. The individual is producing less. That in turn decreases costs and in turn decreases sales. An inefficient system of distribution is a chronic sore on the body economic. The world, more especially the United States, has learned pretty well the art of economic production and consumption. Here in normal times these elements in the economic triangle have attained high efficiency and low cost, but the element of the distribution of the products of the producers to the point desired by the consumers remains costly, wasteful and inefficient.

Trains of live cattle can their way to the packing centers of the West pass refrigerated trains of beef on their way to the consumers. Shiploads of raw cotton headed North pass shiploads of cotton goods on their way South. In the present era of high freight rates, transportation charges are higher than the cost of production and manufacture.

Until some of these troubles are eliminated, business will continue to suffer. Happily the case is not one to puzzle the expert diagnostician. Isolating the causes, the business doctors can begin removing them. It is the consciousness of what's wrong that reduces the business gloom.

MARRYING AGES

CENSUS statistics reveal the ages at which men and women are most inclined to marry, though the average for both sexes is rising. About 16 per cent of women marry before they are 20, while more than half marry before the age of 25. More than half the men do not marry before the thirtieth birthday. It appears that as age comes apace the chances of marriage rapidly diminish. However, this may not be due to unwillingness but to lack of opportunity. According to census compilations, 2,000,000 men and women more than 50 years of age are leading single lives, though whether of "blessedness" is open to debate. It may have been observed that some widowers are persistent in the hunt and some widows are not inclined to repulse advances of possible available men, but it takes two to make such a contract and often when one is willing the other isn't.

Altered conditions are responsible for the rising average marriage age. Not so long ago about the only career for a woman lay in marriage. Some of our grandmothers were but 16 when they became brides. Now, ordinarily, a girl is not out of high school at that age. If she goes to college marriage is out of the question until she is in the twenties. Neither are young men prepared to marry as young as once was the case. In an earlier day a willingness to work and enough money to pay for the license and the minister were all that was thought necessary as a preliminary. Now men must be established and have something laid by warranting a step which entails additional expense and increased responsibilities. Even when both are at marrying age it does not follow that a wedding will ensue quickly. Many a Jack never finds his Jill. Therein is one important reason why many do not marry, though to what extent it is true the census figures do not reveal.

But then, if half the truth were told most neighborhoods would be in a turmoil.

Will man never learn the futility of telling woman what kind of clothes to wear?

An Englishman claims he "understands woman," but it is easy for a woman to deceive a man.

It formerly was said that two could live cheaper than one, but now not even one can live cheaply.

For some life would be one grand ecstasy if there were no after effects to the "kick" of bootleg liquor.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, January 13. - Thoughts to me the metropolitan dandy of while strolling around New York: The rear of Nassau street, narrowest in the city. Prophets bawling ten cent joke books. Windows labeled with sale signs. Pedestrians fill the street. Life skips and scurries. A hurly-burly playing before a window of engraving of Bourbon kings. Warm and gay little cellar cafes with swinging doors. The Morgan banking house. The facade still bears the marks of the anarchist's bomb. Austere men with nutron chop whiskers, round cuffs and reversible neckties. Whistling messengers. Snavely sophisticated clerks.

There's Frances's Tavern where Washington bade farewell to his troops. Streets with the curves of country lanes from which they sprang. An ocean liner moves clumsily up the bay. The reporters' tug races for shore. Thin inquisitorial fliers at tenement windows.

Amazing buildings bleeding the fountains and Gothic flanked by drooping little shops. Rows of great steamship offices. Groups of foreign born waiters with queer language. Snow flakes against a cathedral window. The gentle swelling of a church organ. I'm going to insult the next person who begins a conversation about Main Street.

City Hall Park. Storm worn statues and soap box orators. Red Broadway cars eternally a-ding. Wonder if there's such a word as a-ching. I'll ride on one. Zip! goes another nickel. Lofts with black and gold signs. There's a woman reading poems from a book with a brown polka cover. We used to have one on the mantle in the sitting room. Right next to the glass covered wax dove.

The sweep of soft colored Fifth Avenue. The pulse skips a beat with its majesty. Dizzily swaying green busses. Book stalls and puppy shops. I could spend a day in either. Now for a bowl of milk with crackers. Happy days!

The New York Tribune is joining the march of newspapers uptown. A site for a new building has been secured in the Forties. Only the New York World remains in Printing House Square. The Times long ago moved to Forty-second street. The American building is at Columbus Circle and the Sun and the Herald are to move into a new building in the uptown district shortly. The Tribune building has been sold to a syndicate of real estate operators who will make it over into an office building.

A well known novelist on return from one of his frequent lecture jaunts into the sticks, dropped into The Players completely refreshed. He had discarded his familiar Mackinaw for a sweater far cozier.

"That's a fine coat," said a friend, "and what's it made of?"

"Follow," said the novelist, "those are Chautauqua skins."

I have a friend who represents

"Tangerine" nears the end of its first year's run at the Casino on Broadway. It has perhaps furnished the most popular song hit of the year in "Sweet Lady." "Gaily" has played more than a year at the New Amsterdam and it would have taken three years to accommodate its crowds in ordinary sized theatres.

The Winter Dream

(New York Herald)
When Winter takes the world to keep,
And I go down the ways of sleep,
How well I know what I shall dream:

Some scenes that always reappear,
Floated from far around the Year!
This of a beech wood all autumn
With rare flecked sunbeams from brighter skies
Shifting like wind-blown butterflies!

Or I shall hark me back until
I find a late rain's slender rill—
So slender that by noon 'tis gone;
Yet while it lasts it bubbles o'er
And lures a child's foot to explore!
Or on some gladed woodland lawn,
I'll pluck the flower none else has seen—
Two petals, with a face between!

These dreams, that haunt from far
And long ago, are but to say:
Summer, that was as Childhood lost,
With Childhood still comes back to me.

I wake, the curtains draw and see
Like scenes depicted by the frost!
So Winter with his dream-declat—
Dream of a dream, in candle white!

A Doubtful Compliment
Mrs. O'Brien—They say it's not polite to be helped twice. Mr. Flaherty, but you'll take another piece of my cake, won't you?

Flaherty—Indeed, Oh will that, Mrs. O'Brien. Shure, it's the height of politeness to are a second piece at such cake as this.

No Scarcity
"All the world's a stage."
"Yep, there's no scarcity of monologue artists."

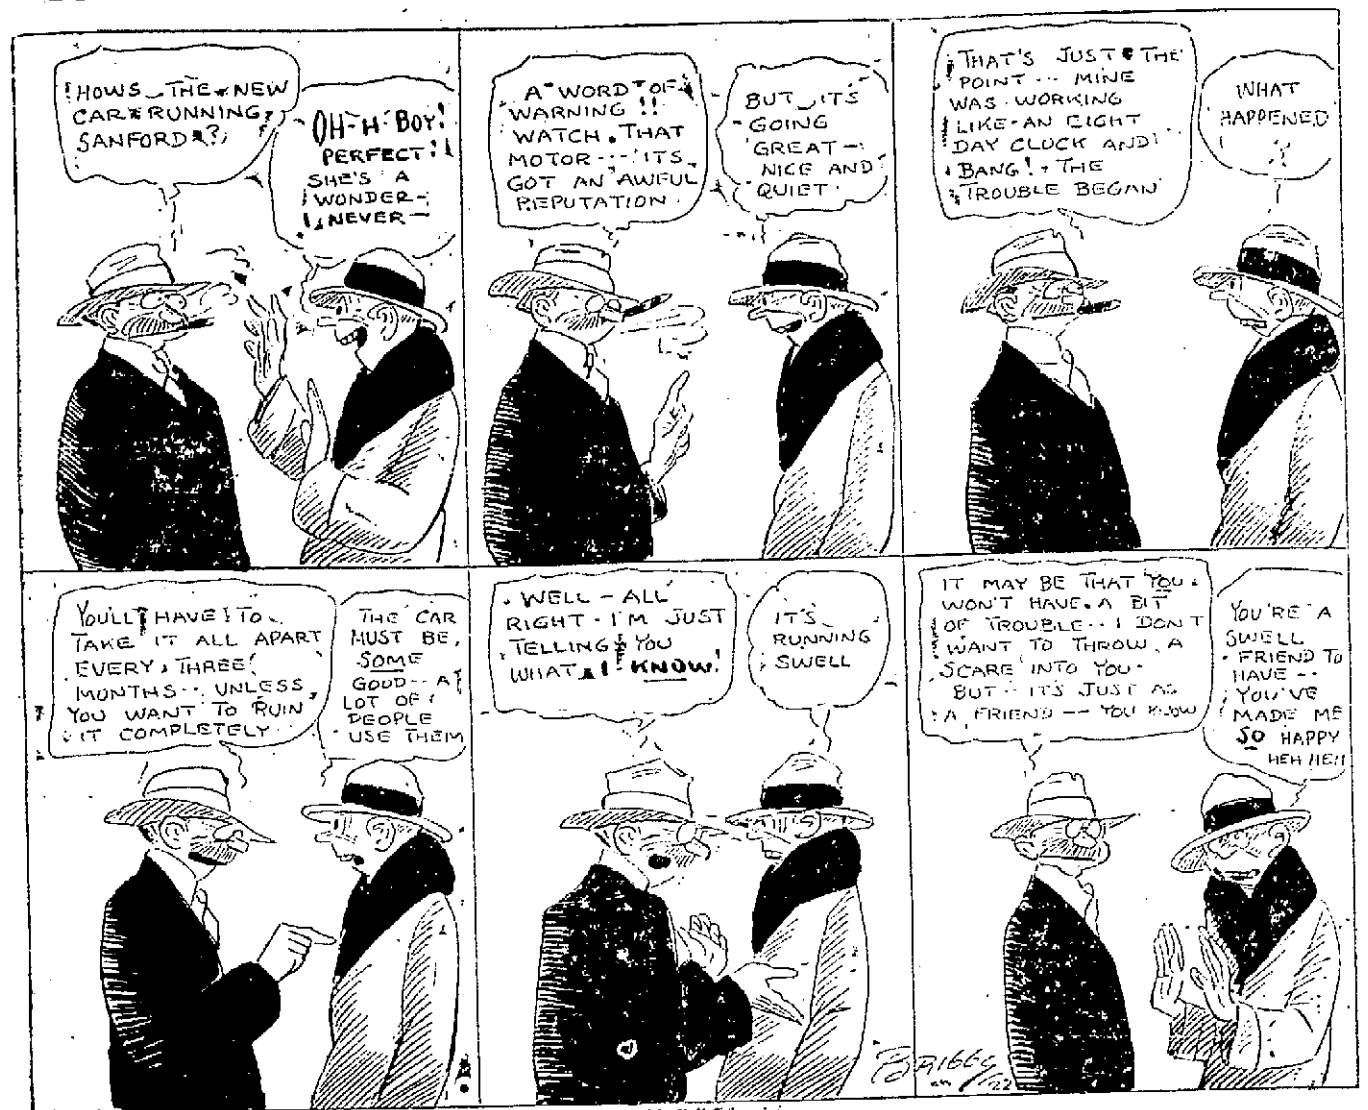

Miss Shapleigh Bawls Us Out
After women get a little political power I shouldn't be surprised if they abolished a few men. There are too many men in the world anyway. As a student of biology, I can say that we can get along with very few men. They are not nearly so important as they think they are.—Dr. Elizabeth Shapleigh, Boston University.
